

I live directly west from this proposed development. I am writing in opposition to the change from low density residential.

I have lived in Blaine since 1992 and have seen explosive growth in the city. The area north of 125th should remain single family residential. We have a large town home development east of our area already and many townhomes, many of which are rented. I would like to see the new development as single family homes. There is a great need for single family villas which are cheaper and great for our aging population and young families.

Sincerely,
Nancy Kaiser
