Background

Staff report prepared by Lori Johnson, City Planner

On the northwest corner of 125th Avenue and Ulysses Street is an existing restaurant known as The Roadside. The site is zoned B-2 (Community Commercial) and a restaurant is a permitted use in this district.

In 2013, the applicant applied for, and received, a conditional use permit for outdoor dining, indoor live entertainment and an outdoor bocce ball court. The applicant/ owner would now like to expand the outdoor dining area on site and add another outdoor dining/seating area to the north of the building. A conditional use permit amendment is required to allow this area to be constructed.

The new outdoor seating area will be located in the landscaped area to the north of the restaurant. The area will include seating for 30-50 people at bar height tables, benches and picnic tables. Fire pits and lawn game areas are also provided. The area will be delineated with cedar posts/panels and planters. There is no paving being proposed in this area as there will be rock pathways for walkways. Bike racks are also proposed for those who wish to bike to this restaurant. The seating area does not encroach into any sight distance lines on the corner of the property.

The building itself is 3,902 square feet in size. The original floor plan for the restaurant, along with the original 32-seat outdoor dining area, required 62 parking stalls and 60 stalls are provided on site. Recently, the applicant removed seating (40 seats) inside the restaurant to provide space for a new smoker and a new food concept for the restaurant. This would lessen the parking requirement for the restaurant which would mean that no additional parking would be required for the new outdoor dining area. In addition, it is envisioned that the new outdoor area would be designed for people either walking or biking to the restaurant. This does not reduce the need for required parking, however it is worth noting how this new area may, or may not impact parking. The new outdoor dining area will not remove any parking stalls. The site does share an interior access with the adjacent site if overflow parking is needed.

The applicant also has installed a walk up window on the north side of the building to offer take out for the restaurant and new outdoor dining area. This will make it easier for walk up, bike up or drive up customers to take food out which has been so important over the last year. Customers can dine in the newly created outdoor dining area or take the food home.

The applicant must confer with the City's Building Inspection Department on how to contact the Met Council to determine if more Sewer Access Charges (SAC) will be required for the outdoor dining area.

All signage on site must meet ordinance requirements and separate permits for signage are required.

Since the site was newly reconstructed in 2013, there are no additional site improvements that are required at this time.

All other aspects of the operation and outdoor spaces, and the conditions of the original conditional use permit, will remain unchanged.

Strategic Plan Relationship

Not applicable.

Board/Commission Review

The Planning Commission voted unanimously to approve the conditional use permit. The applicant spoke on his behalf and three other residents spoke regarding the proposal. One resident was concerned about noise, traffic, on street parking and bus stop issues. The second resident echoed the same concerns as the first resident. The third resident asked if overflow parking directional signage could be provided on site.

The Planning Commission recommended the addition of a condition of approval that states the applicant is required to provide overflow parking directional signage on site. This condition has been added to the resolution for review by the City Council.

Financial Impact
